

Abstract

In an apparatus for coating a substrate by means of a chemical gas phase separation process, the arrangement of the filaments (5, 17, 26) at least partially surrounding the substrate to be coated is not merely two-dimensional but three-dimensional in respect of the substrate.

(Figure 1)

10086150 022302